English Language Preparatory Program Instructor Vacancies

MEF University is the first university worldwide to adopt a flipped classroom pedagogical approach across all areas, including the English language preparatory program. Our preparatory language program is unique, engaging and technologically enhanced. Preparatory instructors are a part of the design, review and improvement process. You can be a part of this fascinating career opportunity.

2017-2018 vacancies in the MEF University English Language Preparatory Program

Are you an experienced native English speaker ELT practitioner looking for an opportunity to work as a university instructor, teaching general English or English for Academic Purposes (EAP) in the most innovative university in Turkey? We welcome applications from university graduates who meet the following minimum requirements.

Minimum Job Requirements

- A University degree (B.A., B.Sc., B.Ed.) preferably in English Language Teaching or related fields, i.e. Linguistics, English/American Language or Literature
- CELTA
- English as a mother tongue or native level
- Experience teaching 18-19 year old students
- Preferably with current valid residency in Turkey.

We Offer

- A twelve-month university contract with the opportunity to renew
- Competitive salary commensurate with qualifications and experience
- Private medical insurance
- Lunch meals provided
- Laptop

Application Procedures

Applicants are required to submit by email a current CV with an accompanying cover letter stating their suitability for the position along with three (3) referees, one of whom is a direct supervisor. Please e-mail the documents to preprecruit@mef.edu.tr by March 1st, 2017.

Only applicants who meet the minimum job requirements will be processed. All applications are kept confidential. Due to the volume of applicants, only shortlisted candidates will be contacted by e-mail.

MEF University
School of Foreign Languages